

Learning from History

Impulses for historical and civic education

Call for papers – www.learning-from-history.de

Learning from History is a web portal that promotes historical and civic education on the themes of National Socialism, the Holocaust and twentieth-century history. For over ten years, our portal has been bringing together essays, reports on school-based projects, reviews of teaching materials, presentations of other web portals, and more. As well as discussions and materials from Germany, we also pick up on international debates. Some of our contributions thus appear not only in German but also in English and Spanish. Contributions in Polish are handled by our cooperation partner in Warsaw, the Karta foundation. In addition, in October 2010 we published an international issue of our magazine, on "Learning about National Socialism and the Holocaust", which included some contributions in English. We want to expand the international section of our portal and enlarge our reach by publishing more essays and project presentations in English and Spanish. We are very interested in your research and experiences in the field of education in schools, museums and youth-work settings, on the following topics:

- Learning about National Socialism and the Holocaust
- Intercultural historical education
- Projects with young people and in schools on the topic of National Socialism and the Holocaust
- The treatment of National Socialism and the Holocaust in history books
- Syllabus design on the history of National Socialism and the Holocaust
- Antisemitism past and present in the context of historical and civic educational work
- Web offerings in the field of education about twentieth-century history
- Reviews of textbooks and specialist publications on historical and civic education about National Socialism, the Holocaust and antisemitism (only books that are available internationally)
- Remembering and commemorating National Socialism and the Holocaust
- Remembering twentieth-century dictatorships in the context of educational work
- Remembering genocides in the context of educational work

We invite submissions in English or Spanish. For papers that are longer than 4,500 characters (around 800 words), we will need an abstract and a PDF version of the article. Shorter papers will be posted directly on the portal. All contributions will appear on the following page of our portal:

<http://learning-from-history.de/International>

Please send your submissions and any questions to Birgit Marzinka:

marzinka@lernen-aus-der-geschichte.de